Really Important Reminders

- Our January CQI Meeting is on Monday the 27th.
- There is NO SCHOOL on the 20th. Children's Choice will be open at Sombra.
Don't forget to register online!
- This activity calendar has been created by the kids! They will be running most of these activities for the next 2 weeks! There are 3 days with Older Kids Only activities, but Charlie has plans to make kites and play a Jumanji style game with the younger kids on those days.
- The field trip to Holiday Bowl on Tuesday is only for 4th and 5th graders. Make sure to get your names on the list because the van only has 13 seats!

Yer a Wizard, Zack!

Can I tell you about P.E.?

"I'm Zack, and I'm 10 years old."

"Today we played dodgeball, and our team won three times, and we played mushroom ball, and that was very fun. We played capture the flag, and I captured the flag two times. And we played every one tag."

"During dodgeball a lot of people on the other team were catching balls, so then their team could get in. Our team wasn't catching a lot of balls, so whenever it was the last person, they had they had to hit the vent so that they can get back in our whole team. That team won two times and our team won one time and that's all."

Snowball Freeze Tag

Alex and Zoey know how much everyone likes freeze tag AND the gym, so they worked together to plan an activity that everyone could play in the gym involving freeze tag!

"I'm really excited to lead an activity with Alex."

Zoey, 11

The girls explained the rules to everyone and had a plan in place, just in case any of the rules were forgotten.

"Can I be referee to make sure everyone is following the rules?" Alex, 11

Once the game started, the kids had a few challenges for Alex and Zoey.

"Hey! That hit my butt. No booty shots!"

Sebastian, 6

"When someone hits my finger, does that count as a head shot?" Ezra, 6

The girls handled all the questions with enthusiasm and made sure everyone had fun!

"I really like freeze tag." Atticus, 5

Quidditch Ball

In Quidditch Ball, there is a secret player (Seeker) who can win the game... All they have to do is catch a ball! Each team also has two other players (Runners/Chasers) with a special task: they are the only players who can hit backboards to get teammates back in!

"I'm scared." Jailynn, 11

Each team huddled up and picked their Seeker and their Runners/Chasers.

"I want to call them runners because they don't chase." Eli, 8

Then the games began! The Runners/Chasers were struggling,

"I didn't have a ball, and I didn't get a ball. I should have just asked." JJ, 6 but the Seekers were focused. Game after game, the Seekers made a catch before either team could get everyone out!

"I like that if you catch the ball., the whole team wins!" Allison, 10

Minute to Win it

How can you make a boring morning more fun? Play as many short games as you can! When the Winter Break mornings were long, we brought out bows, tape, bowls, poms poms, and straws.

“Everyone, count your balls!” Dexter, 6

“How many points is each ball worth?” our friend Elias, 8

The kids had one minute to score as many points as they could in each game... and only one minute to figure out what they were doing!

“You’re throwing all the bows behind you...” our friend Piers, 12

Everyone played fair and helped each other out when things were hard!

“Make sure all the boxes are the same size!” Zack, 10

“Thanks for helping me with my box.” Dexter, 6
This was still a competition though, so they couldn’t lose!

“I want a rematch Zack!” Zoey, 11

Landy Can’d

Landy Can’d is a made up game, surprising, we know! The entire goal is to make a can of soda explode! You might think it would be super easy to do, but it is not.

“Shake up your soda!” our friend Elijah, 9

We had to employ some strategy – shaking up the soda cans, throwing them very high in the air, waiting to drink them until after they explode...

“It’s not just about drinking soda! It’s about having fun!” Zack, 10

Nothing brings out the giggles quite like soda spraying on you from a can YOU busted open, by throwing it!

“It was spraying on me!” Marcel, 6

We may have broken all the rules for drinking soda/not playing with our food/not making messes... but we sure had a blast!

Some kids even want to try this at home...

“I’m going to get my mom to buy packs of soda so that I can do this activity at home!” Marcel, 6
